SUMMARY

Lyashenko T.S. Stability of young families in Ukraine in the context of social policy. - The manuscript.

Master's thesis on specialty - Social work. - National Technical University of Ukraine "Kyiv Polytechnic Institute", Department of Sociology. - Kyiv, 2015. 85C., Source list of 75 items, 3 applications.

The thesis deals with the problem of stability of young families in Ukraine in the context of social policy. This paper analyzes the current state of family relationships young couples identified the major blocs problems that hinder their sustainable development (social, economic, socio-psychological, medical). Also formed notion of stability of young families and examined the factors that affect it. The influence of social policies in support of young people, analyzes the social and legal protection of young families in Ukraine. Based on research reveals factors that influence the destabilization young family relationships and formed an effective model of social policy to support young families in Ukraine.

Key words: family, marriage, a young family, the stability of the family, young family stability, social policy, social support.